

Introduction to Psycholinguistics: Language and the Brain.

Unit Title	Introduction to Psycholinguistics: Language and the Brain.
Level of Study
Credit Value		ECTS Value	2
Home Department	Department of Theoretical and Applied Linguistics
Home Faculty	Philology Faculty
Unit Co-ordinator	Assistant professor Dr. Yuliya Leschenko
Key Words	Psycholinguistics, Postmodernism studies, gender studies and cultural studies.
Brief Summary	This course serves as an introduction to psycholinguistics and it will examine key issues of language acquisition, storage and processing in the brain.
Indicative Content	During this course will be covered major psychological mechanisms/processes involved in language comprehension and language production, and contemporary research on first and second language acquisition will be discussed.		